Type Probate
Description Probate of Will of Matilda Marshall, spinster, of Dover [BRA Torr & Co; KAO AG 47/2]
No of docs 1
Date 1858
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description Official extract from Will of Sir John Filmer [BRA Torr & Co; KAO AG 47/2]

No of docs 1

Date 1795

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

No of docs 2
Date 1653, 1756
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times varous references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description Two messuages and land [Fine only] [BRA JPMB; KAO AG 47/11]
No of docs 2
Date 1634
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times varous references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description Message to N of Chatham Street [BRA various, mainly unstamped; KAO AG 47/18 (mainly Lethieullier properties)]
No of docs 6
Date 1670-1685
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. Date 1781-1849
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Date 1631, 1650, 1675
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of Canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times varous references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. No of docs 3
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description The Royal Oak [BRA 190; KAO AG 47/47; KAS 1938/11]
No of docs 4
Date 1876-1879
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

No of docs 1
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times varous references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. Description Rental of Cranbrook, Thornden, and Hartley (3mm) [BRA: M & Co 1933, KAO: MR 64-66]

No of docs 3

Date 1706

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. [Note: the numbers in square brackets relate to the published deeds]

Date 1833-1896
Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. [Note: the numbers in square brackets relate to the published deeds]

No of docs 4
Date 1851-1870

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description Various properties [KAS 3, 6,7; two deeds mutilated and several bearing notes on dorse]
No of docs 13
Date 1322-1424
Collection details Manorial records, deeds etc, relating mainly to the Oxenden family of Barham, mostly listed for the Kent Archaeological Society, ante 1902, and some published in Archaeologia Cantiana, vol XXV, 1902. The Oxenden deeds are almost all covered with notes by Henry Oxenden on a variety of antiquarian topics and not a few are mutilated apparently in order to suit his other purposes. A small group of early documents for Wrotham and district were found with these papers but bear no relation to the Oxenden properties. [Note: the numbers in square brackets relate to the published deeds]

Collection details Documents presented or deposited per British Records Association [Note: this very large series is roughly arranged according to chronological order of receipt. At different times various references have been used by the British Records Association, and the Kent Archaeological Society and the Kent Archives Office, and where possible each of these references is given to each group of documents. These groups are now arranged according to the normal office classification of estate and family papers but each British Records Association group is kept as an entity within the Kent Archaeological Society and Kent Archives Office scheme. One very big series however, deeds given to the British Records Society by Dr Gordon Ward and formerly AG 47/24, has been separated out and is now U47/17] [Note: the very miscellaneous set of legal papers apparently from the offices of Messrs Sandys and Pierce, solicitors of Canterbury, has been roughly sorted into series relating to families and estates]

Description Messuage, cottages and land [BRA 216; KAO AG 47/40; KAS 1938/15]
No of docs 1
Date 1863
